Dates of Creation: 1932-1955

Physical Description: 10 cm of textual records

Administrative History:

The Kamloops Daily News was established in 1931 as the Kamloops Shopper by George Duncan Brown. In 1937 the paper became the Kamloops Advertiser under the ownership of George Dawson and Watt Francis. The paper changed names again in 1965 to become the North Kamloops News Advertiser, but soon changed again (in 1966) to the Kamloops News Advertiser. Up until 1968 the paper was published twice a week, but increased circulation to three times a week that year. By 1973 the paper was known as the Kamloops News. Circulation increased again in 1982 to five times a week, and by 1986 to six days a week, becoming the Kamloops Daily News. Up until 2006 the paper was owned by Hollinger Inc. (the media conglomerate of Conrad Black), when it was sold to Glacier Media. The newspaper would close in 2014.

Scope and Content:

Collection consists of issues and clippings of the Kamloops Advertiser newspaper.

Custodial History:

Collection was compiled by former KMA staff, with the majority of records not formally accessioned until reprocessing in 2022.
