Title: CFJC collection

Dates of Creation: 1943-1963

Physical Description: 1.5 cm of textual records, 4 b&w photographs, and 1 map

Administrative History:

CFJC is a radio station broadcasting in Kamloops, B.C., which was established by N.S. Dalgleish and Weller & Weller in 1926. In 1957 the company expanded their broadcast capabilities to include television, under the name CFCR-TV. The channel was an affiliate of CBC. Former employee Ian Clark gained ownership of the company in 1965 when his company (Twin Cities Radio) acquired the remainder of the company share. In 1971 the television station changed its name to CFJC-TV to match the radio station, which both remain to this day. In 1987 the television and radio stations were purchased by the Jim Pattison Group. 2005 saw the stations disaffiliated with the CBC, and rebranded as "the All-New Independent TV7."

Scope and Content:

Fonds consists of advertising materials for CFJC radio programming and CFCR television programming, photographs, a land agreement for CFJC's property in Kamloops, B.C., and a script for a program broadcast on CFJC.

Custodial History:

Accession 1989.023, which comprises the bulk of this collection was donated to the Kamloops Museum and Archives in 1989 by Ian Clark, the then-owner of CFJC. Two additional groups of materials (accessions 0.3036 and 0.3092) were accrued to this collection during reprocessing in 2018. These materials were previously located in the Vertical Files.
