Title: Kamloops Outdoor Club fonds

Dates of Creation: 1936-2013

Physical Description: ca. 110 cm of photographic materials, ca. 30 cm of textual records, 10 maps, and 1 audio cassette tape

Administrative History:

The Kamloops Outdoor Club was founded on October 7, 1936 in Kamloops, B.C. by Jack Gregson and Bert Brink, with a purpose to stimulate interest in outdoor activities. The Club's first hiking activity occurred on the Sunday following its first meeting (October 11, 1936), with prospective club members hiking from the Cenotaph on Battle Street to the McIntosh Memorial in the West End. Jack Gregson was elected as the club's first president, and it would be formally incorporated under the Societies Act in March 1950. Early activities organized by the club included an annual alpine summer camp, banquets and picnics, a Winter Snoball Frolic (formal dance) and Christmas parties, and hiking and sporting activities for all seasons. The first clubhouse was located at an old farmhouse on Rose Hill, donated by Mr. Egli, which was improved by club members with the addition of eating and sleeping facilities and a stone fireplace. The clubhouse burnt down in 1941, but the enterprising group would come together to construct a new clubhouse further up the same field. After this clubhouse was also burnt down in 1961, a third location was established on land granted to the club by the Provincial Government on Heffley Lake in 1963. This clubhouse is still in use by the club. The club continues to hosts events such as hiking, archery, and tobogganing, as well as trips throughout the Interior for canoeing, cross country skiing, and to the alpine.

Scope and Content:

Fonds consists predominantly of photograph albums and scrapbooks compiled by the Kamloops Outdoor Club, which document their outdoors activities and club history. Fonds also includes a small amount of publications written or collected by club co-founder Jack Gregson, files on activities on Stoyoma Mountain and Mount Morrisey, information about the club's cabin on Heffley Lake, and records related to the club's 50th Anniversary reunion celebration.
