Physical Description: 113 cm of textual records, 446 maps, ca. 3 cm of technical drawings, 42 architectural drawings, and 1 photograph

Biographical Sketch:

Robert Henry Lee was born in Virginia in 1859, and moved with his family to Portsmouth Ohio at a young age. Lee joined a railway survey party at the age of 16 after the death of his parents and by the age of 19 was leading surveys with several railway companies in the United States. In 1879, Lee became a deputy civil engineer in Leadville, Colorado. In 1881, he began working for the Northern Pacific Railway and worked on branches of the North Pacific and Union Pacific railways throughout the Pacific Northwest. Lee came to Kamloops in 1884 and opened an office as a provincial land surveyor and engineer and, in the following year, began advertising his services as an architect. Lee was listed in the provincial directories as an architect until 1905 and designed a number of buildings in Kamloops, including the former gaol and courthouse, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and a former Roman Catholic Church, and the Bank of British Columbia building formerly located at the corner of 1st Avenue and Victoria Street.

In 1886, Lee opened an assay office with Mr. Drummond and F.H. Robson. Shortly after the Assay office closed around 1887, Lee opened a grocery and feed store with F.H. Robson, from which he withdrew in 1888. In the same year, Lee was a founder, trustee and shareholder of the Hidden Treasure Mining Company. In April of 1889, Lee married Violet Tite in Victoria, with whom he had twin daughters in the same year. Shortly afterwards one of the twin daughters died. Lee was one of the original shareholders in the Nicola, Kamloops, and Similkameen Coal and Railway Company when the company incorporated in 1891.

In 1893, when the City of Kamloops incorporated, Lee was an alderman on the first City Council of Kamloops, as well as being appointed the director of the Royal Inland Hospital Board. The following year Lee was elected mayor of Kamloops by acclamation, and ran again for the position successfully in 1895 and 1896. Lee ran for the mayoralty in 1898, but was defeated by incumbent M.P. Gordon. In 1897, Lee was appointed to the licence board and was also appointed as a police commissioner and vice president of the Miners' Protective Association. In 1898 resigned as chairman from the Royal Inland Hospital board, but was appointed a Justice of the Peace. Lee was also involved in with the Corps of Guides of Canada, rising to the rank of Lieutenant by 1907.

Lee served as Engineer of the City of Kamloops from his time as Mayor and continued to serve as Engineer of the City of Kamloops until his retirement in 1934, with the exclusion of 1912 when he resigned from the position in the middle of his annual contract. This position saw him overseeing the development of much of early Kamloops infrastructure and roadwork, particularly water pumps, sewers, civic building projects, and the subdivision and development of new areas of Kamloops. Lee's daughter Edith Violet Lee married W.J.C. Hibbert in 1912 and remarried H.J. Rattray in 1924. Lee's wife Violet passed away in 1928. Robert Henry Lee died in 1935 after an accident in his home at the age of 66.

Scope and content:

Collection documents predominately the business activities with which Lee was involved in Kamloops, including his assay office, the Hidden Treasure Mining Company, his grocery and his architectural, survey and engineering work. It also includes a number records relating his personal life and the handling of his estate after he passed away by his daughter Violet Rattray (nee Lee). The documents include survey maps, field notes, correspondence, and architectural and technical drawings. Collection also contains a book owned by R.H. Lee's daughter Edith Lee.

Custodial History:

Accession 1964.108 was donated to the Kamloops Museum and Archives in 1964 by J.J. Morse after being purchased during an auction of the Rattray Estate prior to R.H. Lee's daughter Edith Violet Rattray's death.

Accession 0.2306 was donated on June 5, 1956 by R.A. Allison. Accession 0.2931 was donated to the Kamloops Museum by J.J. Morse, after being purchased from an unknown source. Accessions 0.2729, 0.2730, 0.2731, 0.3097, and 0.689 have no donation information.

Accession 2019.049.010 was donated on October 7, 2019 by Jessie Ann Gamble. The item was acquired by the donor during the auction of the Rattray Estate prior to R.H. Lee's daughter Edith Violet Rattray's death. Material was accrued to this collection during reprocessing in 2020.

Notes:

Source of supplied title: Title based on contents of collection.

Variations in title: Collection was formerly known as the R.H. Lee fonds.

Arrangement: The smaller format material from accession 1964.108 had previously been arranged, predominately, according to form with correspondence, field notes, and small survey and city maps being grouped together. Larger format survey maps and architectural and technical drawings were incorporated into the KMA map collection. When possible, these materials have been returned to the R.H. Lee collection, as cross-referenced from inventories compiled when materials were originally acquired. The collection had been re-arranged during initial reprocessing in 2016 to bring together the survey material and architecture and engineering material, with the exclusion of the correspondence for which the previous arrangement was preserved. Collection was arranged into three series at this time: Correspondence and other materials, Surveying and mapping, and Architecture and engineering. A fourth series (Miscellaneous) was added during reprocessing in 2018 to incorporate materials relating to or created by R.H. Lee which had previously been placed in the Vertical Files collection or were not part of the records coming from the Rattray Estate. A fifth series (Photographs) was added during reprocessing in 2020 to accommodate photographs which had originally been part of accession 1964.108 and had been placed in the KMA Photograph Collection.

Access restrictions: No restrictions on access. The archivist reserves the right to restrict access to any fragile material for preservation purposes.

Terms governing use and reproduction: No reproduction permitted without consent of copyright holder. It is the researcher's responsibility to obtain permission for the reproduction of materials for publication or dissemination.

Finding aids: Series descriptions and file lists are available for the textual records and item level descriptions are available for the cartographic material and architectural and technical drawings.

Accruals: No further accruals are expected.
